Stratton Opens New Highway 145

Cuts Ribbons In Ceremonies Held Saturday

S. J. Groves Flies
Here from New York
For Dedication

Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois opened State Route 145 between Mitchellville and Dixon Springs to the motoring public in ceremonies Saturday afternoon as thousands of people looked on in a snowfall whipped by a biting wind from the west.

Gov. Stratton, who was accompanied by Mrs. Stratton on the trip to southern Illinois for the dedication and opening of the 23-mile stretch of modern pavement that cost in the neighborhood of four and a half million dollars, declared:

"This road will provide a fine scenic highway for the state of Illinois and will provide better service for the people living in the community."

Only a beginning. He said that a short time ago the completion of 88 and a half million dollars in Illinois road projects during 1954 was announced and said that "I feel this is only a beginning—I am looking forward to pursuing even more vigorously the road program in 1955. I hope that in a few years Illinois will have the best highway system in the United States."

Ceremonies began at the south end of the new pavement, near Dixon Springs, where State Senator Arthur A. Van Hooser presided. Gov. Stratton spoke and then cut a ribbon across the road, after which the principals and part of the gathering moved to the north end of the new highway at Mitchellville, where people awaited and where a similar program of dedication was held.

At the Mitchellville dedication, State Senator-elect Glen O. Jones, who succeeds Van Hooser next month, was master of ceremonies and introduced the governor.

"This road will have great influence on the economic life of our country," said Jones in preliminary remarks.

Officials Present

Introduced at both ceremonies were the following: S. J. Groves, head of the S. J. Groves Construction Co. who flew from New York City to Harrisburg, then drove to the dedication area with other Groves officials; A. J. McKay, Springfield, vice president of the Groves company; Ed A. Rosenstone, director of the State Department of Public Works and Buildings; Troy A. Kost, assistant to Mr. Rosenstone; Ralph Bartelsmeyer, chief engineer, Division of Highways; Robert G. Miley, superintendent of the Division of Parks and Memorials; Director Ben Schull of the Department of Mines and Minerals; Engineer McLeod of the Carbondale office of the division of highways; Circuit Judges C. Ross Reynolds of Vienna, Harold L. Zimmerman of Marion and Clarence E. Wright of Carbondale; State Legislators Paul Powell, Gordon Kerr and W. O. Verhines; and the wives of several of the men present.

Gov. Stratton praised the work of the 51st district legislators toward getting the new highway, and had words of compliment for the engineers who planned and the men who built the road.

Tribute to Golconda Man
Mr. Groves, too, spoke briefly. He said that Illinois was embarking on a new road program which will bring a great boom to this state—that Gov. Stratton is doing one of the outstanding jobs in the country.

Both Van Hooser and Jones paid tribute to the late Dr. Will Walker of Golconda, who died two years ago. Dr. Walker was one of the hardest workers to get the Mitchellville-to-Dixon Springs road built.

At the south dedication, the invocation was by the Rev. O. L. Anger, pastor of the First Christian church of Metropolis, and there was music by bands from the Metropolis and Brookport high schools. At the north dedication the invocation was by the Rev. Glen Daugherty, pastor of the First Christian church of Harrisburg.

THERE WERE NOTABLES GALORE at the dedication of the Mitchellville-Dixon Springs stretch of State Route 145, and this group assembled at the south end of the road just before Gov. William G. Stratton, shown in the center with S. J. Groves, made the dedicatory address. Shown from left to right are: State Rep. Paul Powell; Robert G. Miley of Galatia, superintendent of the Division of State Parks and Memorials; Troy A. Kost (back of Miley), assistant director of the State Department of Public Works and Buildings; Ralph Bartelsmeyer, chief highway engineer; Circuit Judge Harold L. Zimmerman (back of Bartelsmeyer); A. J. McKay, Groves Construction Co. vice president; Ed A. Rosenstone, director of the Department of Public Works and Buildings; Governor Stratton; State Senator-elect Glen O. Jones; State Senator Arthur A. Van Hooser; S. J. Groves, president of the S. J. Groves Construction Co. who flew from New York to attend the dedication; State Rep. W. O. Verhines (bareheaded); Mrs. Stratton, the governor's wife; Mrs. Will Walker of Golconda; and Mrs. Van Hooser.

GOV. WILLIAM G. STRATTON AND MRS. STRATTON apparently are not letting the cold weather bother them in this scene of the couple taken during the dedication of the Mitchellville-to-Dixon Springs highway Saturday. The ceremonies were held at both ends of the 23-mile stretch of modern highway while a strong, cold wind whipped in from the west and snow fell. (Daily Register Staff Photos)

Important Decisions at Parley: Dulles

Believes French Assembly Will Vote Ratification

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles arrived from Paris today and said Atlantic alliance meetings there had reached "some very important decisions—all taken with unanimity and good spirits."

Arriving at National Airport with Dulles aboard a Military Air Transport Constellation were Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey and Foreign Operations Administrator Harold Stassen.

Shivering in a cold wind, Dulles stood with his hands in his pockets and made a brief statement at the airport.

He said he would report soon to President Eisenhower on the meeting at which the North Atlantic Treaty Council agreed to rely on atomic weapons as a bulwark of Western strength against aggression.

The fast-flying secretary returned as a supremely critical period for Western Europe and the United States began.

French Premier Pierre Mendes-France is nearing a showdown confidence vote in his government on the question of rearming of West Germany.

The Soviet Union is making new efforts to thwart that objective. It now is threatening to cancel friendship treaties with both France and Britain if the Paris and London agreements to rearm West Germany are ratified.

Dulles did not directly refer to any of the NATO council decisions. He said that the North Atlantic Council meeting provided an opportunity for some "very useful" private discussions with British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden and Mendes-France.

"We didn't reach any private decisions," he said. But he added that the discussions were useful because they enabled the three foreign ministers to "keep our thinking in line."

Unless the London-Paris agreements to stiffen Western defenses are ratified within a six-month period, it is believed likely that they will fail altogether. Mid-June might be called a deadline for ratification.

Dulles left Paris Sunday night well pleased with the series of Western Alliance conferences.

Frank Cox, 24, Ridgway, Dies In Auto Crash

Frank Edward Cox, 24, of Ridgway, was killed late Saturday night when an auto left the highway on Route 13 between new and old Shawneetown.

State Policeman Michael Taggart, who with Gallatin County Sheriff Millard Holloway investigated the crash, said that Cox was in an auto with Robert Rollman, 31, Eldorado, and that the auto, which belonged to Rollman, left the highway, hit a tree and slid into a ditch.

Both men were thrown clear of the car, Taggart said. Cox died almost instantly and Rollman was taken to Ferrell hospital for treatment of injuries. Taggart said that Cox suffered a broken neck.

Taggart said Rollman told officers that Cox was driving the auto at the time it left the road about one mile east of the new town between 11:15 and 11:30 p. m.

Cox was married and has three children. His body was taken to the Cox funeral home in Ridgway.

Arthur Hancock, 59, Dies in Veterans Hospital in St. Louis

Arthur Hancock, 59, employee of the city school system who resided at 220 West Raymond, died today at 6 a. m. in the veterans hospital in St. Louis, Mo.

He is survived by his wife, Pearl; two sons, Jack who is stationed in Honolulu, and Gilbert of Washington, D. C.; two daughters, Mrs. Maxine Oakley Paducah, and Miss Betty Hancock of Garden City, Mich.; two brothers, Floyd of Anna, and Earl of Harrisburg, and two sisters, Mrs. Claudia Gray, Harrisburg, and Miss Ethel Hancock, Battle Creek, Mich.

The body will be returned to Harrisburg late this afternoon and be received by the Gibbons funeral home. Arrangements are incomplete.

21 Killed in Illinois in Traffic Mishaps

By United Press
Ice, snow and rain contributed heavily to weekend traffic deaths in Illinois, a survey of accident reports showed today.

At least 21 persons died in traffic mishaps. Deaths occurred throughout the state. They included: Theodore E. Stachura, 37, Watseka, was killed two miles west of Watseka when his car collided with another, injuring five persons in the second car.

Dan Jones, 55, Ullin, was killed Saturday night when he was struck by a car while walking on a road west of Ullin.

H. G. Klink, 44, Murphysboro, died in Veterans' hospital at Marion Sunday night of injuries suffered in a Saturday collision with a car driven by James King, Marion, on Ill. 13 west of Marion. King had been involved in an accident near Pinckneyville in June, 1953, and had lost his left arm as a result.

Frank Edward Cox, 24, Ridgway, was killed near New Shawneetown when his auto skidded into a ditch.

Sheppard Jury Still Unable to Reach Verdict

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The Sheppard wife-murder jury went to lunch today 74 hours after getting the case with no sign it is close to agreement.

Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, the 30-year-old osteopathic brain surgeon who is accused of bludgeoning his pregnant wife to death July 4, watched them file out, his face grim. The jurors did not look at him.

The judge called the jurors from their deliberations, and they left the jury room at 12:02 p. m. (EST).

Dr. Sam, in his charcoal grey, single-breasted suit, white shirt and dark knitted tie, had arrived in the courtroom before them. He shook hands with his defense attorney, Fred W. Garmon, and said hello to his two brothers and their wives, who sat behind him along one wall.

The law requires that Dr. Sam be brought from prison to the courtroom each time the jury is called in to be dismissed for meals or for the night. His attorneys and two brothers during his appearances Sunday grasped his hand and spoke reassuringly to him.

But Common Pleas Judge Edward Blythin thinks it is "perfectly natural" for a jury to take three or four days to make up its mind in a case built on circumstantial evidence, with nearly seven weeks of testimony from 70 witnesses, and 214 exhibits.

However, he said that if he doesn't hear from them today sometime, "I'll have a little conference with counsel for both sides and perhaps decide where we go from here."

Death Takes Mrs. Ezra Guard, 79, Of Dorris Heights

Mrs. Myrtle Guard, wife of Ezra Guard, died suddenly at 5 a. m. at her home in Dorris Heights. She was 79 years of age. She had been ill for four months but bedfast only 24 hours.

She was born Nov. 17, 1875, in Saline county to B. B. and Rachel Ann Wilmoth. On January 10 of this year, she and her husband celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with open house at their home in Dorris Heights.

She was a member of the Methodist church where she was quite active.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. in the chapel of the Gaskins funeral home where the body lies in state. Rev. W. L. Cummins will conduct the service and burial will be in the Sunset Hill cemetery.

Besides her husband she leaves two children, Merle and Gordon, both of Harrisburg; four grandchildren; one great-grandchild; four sisters, Mrs. Oma Perkins, Harrisburg, Mrs. J. J. Phillips, St. Petersburg, Fla., Mrs. Thurman Irwin, Pontiac, Mich., Mrs. Lina Cantrell, Harrisburg, and one brother, Joe Wilmoth, Harrisburg.

Because Christmas and New Year's day are on Saturday, the weekly church page will be run on Friday, Dec. 24 and Friday, Dec. 31. It will therefore be necessary for the church notices to be in our office by Thursday noon of each of those weeks in order for them to appear on the page.

Claim Report Of Subversion Untrue, Biased

Attack on Big Tax-Exempt Groups Made
In Committee Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's big tax-exempt foundations today labeled as "untrue, biased, arbitrary and flimsy" charges by the Republican majority of a special House committee that the organizations "directly supported subversion."

The attack on the philanthropic foundations was made in a 416-page report by the three Republican members of the committee.

The GOP members—Chairman B. Carroll Reece (Tenn.) and Reps. Jesse P. Wolcott (Mich.) and Angier L. Goodwin (Mass.)—also alleged the foundations have "supported attacks upon our social and governmental systems and financed the promotion of socialism and collectivist ideas."

Democrats Disagree Sharply

In a 12-page dissent, the two Democratic committee members—Reps. Wayne L. Hays (Ohio) and Mrs. Gracie Pfof (Ida.)—differed sharply, claiming some of the statements in the majority report "are untrue on their face, others are at best only half-truths and the vast majority are misleading."

Most of the committee's fire was aimed at the Ford, Rockefeller and Carnegie foundations and at the New York Times, the New York Herald-Tribune and the Washington Post and Times-Herald, newspapers which had criticized the committee's methods and whose publishers also are connected with foundations.

Dean Rusk, president of the Rockefeller Foundation, said the committee majority accepted "flimsy allegations... as fact without the support of trustworthy evidence in making its investigation." He also noted the foundations were denied the right to challenge charges against them by direct public testimony.

Says Report "Throws Mud"

H. Rowan Gaither Jr., president of the Ford Foundation, called the committee's hearings "biased from start to finish." He said the report "throws mud not only at philanthropy, but also at American schools, the press, business, professional and religious groups and whole areas of scholarly and scientific endeavor."

Following are other charges hurled by the Republicans:

1. The Rockefeller and Carnegie foundations "might have saved China from the Communists and prevented the war in Korea" if their trustees had shown "alertness" and had taken the time "to see to the use made of the public's money by IPR (Institute of Pacific Relations)."

2. The foundations have "supported a conscious distortion of history, propagandized blindly for the United Nations as the hope of the world, supported that organization's agencies to an extent beyond general public acceptance, and leaned toward a generally leftist approach to international problems."

Critical of Kinsey Studies

3. The scientific studies of sex by Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey were described as being of an "extremely dubious" character. "We cannot understand why this work should

Kelly Lockwood Funeral Tuesday

Funeral services for Kelly Lockwood, resident of Dorris Heights who died Friday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Bock in Detroit, Mich., will be held Tuesday at 11 a. m. in the chapel of the Harrisburg funeral home. Elder Wilton Breesee of Mounds will officiate, and burial will be in Sunset Hill cemetery with Masonic rites.

The son of the late John and Alice Matthew Lockwood, he was a retired employee of the secretary of state's office. He had been ill for two years and seriously ill since September.

He leaves his wife, the former Gertrude Upperdine of Colorado; two daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Bock, Detroit, Mich., and Mrs. Betty Butler, Joliet; one son, John Lockwood, Springfield; four grandchildren, and one sister, Mrs. Gertrude Marron, Toledo, Ohio.

Three sisters and one brother preceded him in death.

He was a member of the Masonic lodge No. 325 in Harrisburg.

DREW PEARSON Says:
General Ridgway Now Favors
Limited Intervention Off China Coast; State Department Disagrees With Ike's Military Advisers Re Chiang Kai-Shek; Senate Row Develops Over Security Probe.

WASHINGTON — An important shift has taken place in the clash between the State Department and the Defense Department regarding the question of armed intervention to protect Chiang Kai-Shek. This debate involves the most important policy before Eisenhower at this time — possible preventive war.

General Matt Ridgway, Army
Chief of Staff, who previously sided with the State Department and fought inside the Joint Chiefs of Staff against any armed involvement over the Nationalist island of Quemoy, has shifted his ground a bit. He is now willing to have American planes and warships defend the Nationalist Tachen Islands.

These are 200 miles up the Red China coast from Quemoy and a little easier to defend. Quemoy is so close to the city of Amoy that a good swimmer can swim across.
Tachen Islands, 15 miles from the mainland, are now being used as a guerrilla base for Chiang Kai-Shek's intrepid attacks on the Chinese mainland. However, this is not the chief reason why the Joint Chiefs of Staff want to defend it.

Their reason is that low-lying fog hangs over the Strait of Formosa in the early morning and would serve as a cover for a Communist invasion force seeking to reach Formosa. Taking advantage of this fog, the Red Chinese might advance on these island stepping-stones to Chiang Kai-Shek's stronghold.

The long drawn out debate between the Pentagon and the State Department over these islands highlights the larger debate in Congress and inside the administration over the theory of preventive war. It also brings the debate right back to the same place it was during the Truman administration.

Secretary of State Dulles takes exactly the same position as Dean Acheson that the United States does not want to get involved in war with China. He is so vigorous on this point that he even made a special trip to Formosa to urge Chiang Kai-Shek to withdraw from these difficult-to-defend islands.
Chiang refused.

He knew, of course, that the Joint Chiefs of Staff favor a much more vigorous policy of defending these islands, even at the risk of war. Other military men on the Joint Chiefs of Staff go further, believe we should find an excuse for an all-out showdown with the Red China-Russian combine now while we are ahead in the race for a stockpile of A-bombs.

So far Eisenhower, faced with this difficult division inside his own official family, has sided with the State Department.

BATTLE OF PRESS CONFERENCES

A battle of secret news conferences is raging along the Potomac.
As a result, some of the President's cabinet members are barely speaking to each other.

Secretary Dulles started it by meeting secretly with reporters to plug the idea of a big foreign aid program for Asia. During this conference, Dulles cast considerable aspersions on Treasury Secretary Humphrey's ideas of balancing the budget.

Foreign Aid Director Stassen
then followed with an off-the-record press conference which also criticized Humphrey's pennypinching attitude on foreign aid.

Last week Humphrey struck back at both Dulles and Stassen. He called his own secret news conference, said New Deal hangers-on in the State Department are behind the aid-to-Asia plan, referred to Governor Stassen as a wild dreamer who was battling to save his job now that the foreign aid program was due to expire July 1.

No wonder the President has appointed banker Joe Dodge as economic coordinator to see if he can't work out a single aid program.
"Referee" would be a better title for Dodge's job.

McCARTHY'S MISSISSIPPI FRIEND

Sen. Lyndon Johnson, who did a masterful job of keeping Democratic forces united during the Mc-Carthy debate, is now trying to cash in on some backstage commitments made during that debate.

He is anxious to put Senator Eastland of Mississippi, sometimes called the southern McCarthy, into the chairmanship of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee where he could carry on in much the same way his friend McCarthy did.

However, Senator Harley Kilgore of West Virginia, who, as chairman of the parent Judiciary committee, bosses the Internal Security subcommittee, is flatly opposed. Ordinarily the opposition of a Senate chairman is sufficient.
But in this case, Johnson is using all his persuasive charm, and then some, to force Eastland on Kilgore.

Inside story of what happened is that Eastland did not agree about McCarthy with his Mississippi colleague, Sen. John Stennis, who served on the McCarthy censure committee.

LYNDON APPLIES HEAT

When Senator Eastland, during the McCarthy debate, started lining up against his own Mississippi colleague and for McCarthy, Lyndon Johnson tried to persuade him not to. Finally Eastland said he would vote against McCarthy if he were assured the Internal Security chairmanship. Johnson made no definite promise but is now trying to keep harmony in his Democratic family.

Meanwhile, Kilgore figures he will follow the precedent of the late Sen. Pat McCarran of Nevada and serve as chairman of the Internal Security subcommittee himself.

He has become especially firm in this decision since he learned Senator Eastland has a Gerald L.
K. Smith representative on his staff.

At this point the persuasive senator from Texas came forward with some strategy which would practically nullify Kilgore's power as chairman. He proposed appointing two of the most reactionary members of the Senate to the Ju-diary committee to serve under Kilgore—Price Daniel of Texas and Alan Bible of Nevada.

Both have well known views on civil rights and civil liberties.
Bible having trained under Republican Pat McCarran, and Daniel having been elected by Republican Texas oil millionaires. Their appointment would mean that the Republicans would control the Ju-diary committee.

It sounds like a lot of argument over nothing, but what the public doesn't realize is that one vote of the powerful Judiciary committee can shape civil rights, civil liberties, and the legal course of the United States for some time to come.

Film at Grand to Feature Girl Scouts

A 20-minute, technicolor film,
"Marine Ahoy," on Girl Scouts will be shown tonight and Tuesday night at the Grand theatre.

This short motion picture by Warner Bros. tells the story of Marine scouts aboard the 96 feet brigantine Yankee which the Mariners actually helped sail.

Although the film is on Marine scouting its theme, "How Girls Learn to be Resourceful," is of great interest.

Unfinished Work

Work on the Basilica of St. Peter is never finished. In fact, a Milan sculptor is developing a bas-relief for the "Porta della Morte" (Door of Death) in the interior of the basilica, and will be occupied for two more years. Eight pictures on the bas-relief represent the deaths of saints and martyrs.

Alternates
To avoid each other's quills while sleeping side by side, Malayan porcupines alternate their positions, each facing in the opposite direction from the next, on a tree-limb perch.

Xi Chi Chapter Has Christmas Party And Dinner Meeting

The members of Xi Chi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held their Christmas party and dinner meeting Wednesday evening in the Masonic Temple.

Hostesses were Mrs. Rob Roy Brown, Mrs. Louise Walker, Mrs. Clyde Dallas, Mrs. Fred Wilmoth, Miss Muriel Partain and Mrs. Lowell Moore.

Christmas carols were played while the guests were served punch from a beautifully decorated table centered with a large red candle encircled with holly. Arrangements of holly and candles were used throughout the room, and a silver Christmas tree added to the spirit of Christmas.

The dining table was also centered with a large red candle surrounded with holly and unusual red felt mittens were used as favors. Gifts were exchanged and sorority sisters revealed. The game whist was played and prizes won by Mrs. Gene Bland, Mrs. Vera Gregg and Mrs. George E. Johnson.

Members present were Mrs. Lloyd Horn, Mrs. Lynn McCormack, Mrs. Lonnie Lamkin, Mrs. Lewis Fulkerson, Mrs. Wendell Bramlet, Mrs. Cuba Turner, Mrs. O. L. Turner Jr., Mrs. C. P. Soren Jr., Mrs. John W. Smith, Mrs. George Barnes, Mrs. George E. Johnson, Mrs. Vera Gregg, Mrs. Gene Bland, Mrs. Eli Lasersohn, Mrs. Roy L. Metcalf, Mrs. Thomas Foster, Mrs. Jack Davenport, Mrs. Harold Empson, Mrs. Herman Boatright, Mrs. James Arensman, Mrs. John Stump and the hostesses.

Pride of Midway Past Noble Grands Entertained

The Pride of Midway lodge No. 679 met in regular session Monday evening.

Immediately after the meeting a Christmas party was held for the past noble grands and birthday club members.

Several were awarded game prizes. Marie Fraily was the winner of a lovely hand-made quilt in the lodge colors, pink and green, with the names of the lodge members and friends embroidered on in each block.

Christmas carols were sung by everyone and gifts which were piled high under a beautifully decorated Christmas tree were exchanged. Four members of the birthday club observing birthdays were Pavah Whiteside, Eva Coffee, Billy Gidcumb, and Elizabeth Vaughn.

The group then adjourned to the dining room where the tables were gaily decorated in keeping with the Christmas spirit. Place cards and favors were beside each plate filled with refreshments of red and green sandwiches, striped canes and nuts. Coffee was served as a drink.

The past noble grands were presented hand made gifts from the present noble grand, Anna Lou Sowers.

Past noble grands present were Mary Gholson, Bernice Cozart, Rosa Stricklin, Florence Noonan, Velma Pankey, Ruby Hillard, Ethel Hudnell, Edna Robbs, Cora Dixon, Margaret Schmitz, Essie Noel, Cordelia York, Thelma Burroughs, and Nina Vaughn.

The degree staff presented its captain, Mrs. Margaret Schmitz, with a lovely gift, and the officers of the lodge presented the noble grand, Mrs. Sowers, with a gift.

McKinley Baptist Good Workers Class Meets
The nine year old girls' Good Workers class of the McKinley Avenue Baptist church met Tuesday at the home of the teacher, Mrs. George Langford, for a Christmas party.

The meeting was opened by the president, Janice Lavender. Carols were sung and prayer was offered by Mrs. Langford. Games were played and presents exchanged.

Refreshments of candy, popcorn balls, candy apples and soft drinks were served to the following: Roberta Keltner, Janie Lavender, Candra Rice, Cindy Hall, Georgie Sheldon, Doris Watson, Tana Hunsinger, Lois Swan, Phyllis Crawford and Mrs. Langford.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Syers are returned to their home at 503 South McKinley Saturday from the Herin hospital, where Mr. Syers underwent major surgery.

Eyes For Jesus Class Visits Home of Shut-in

The Eyes for Jesus class of the Dorrisville Baptist church met at the home of the teacher, Mrs. Mildred Clayton, Tuesday at 7 p. m.

Preceding the meeting the group visited in the home of a shut-in, sang Christmas carols and presented her with a gift.

The regular meeting opened with prayer by the teacher. The group then read the Christmas story from the Bible and sang Christmas carols.

Each member received a gift from the grab box.

Sandwiches, pop corn balls, cookies, candy and Cokes were served to the following: Mrs. LaVerne Clayton and son, Danny Lee, Mrs. Mary Hamp and daughter, Susan, Mrs. Phyllis Stiff and son, Phillip Dewain, Mrs. Elaine Ferrell and son, Clinton Dale, Mrs. Mary Miles, Mrs. Barbara Evans, Mrs. Betty Young, Mrs. Geneva Floyd, Mrs. Norma Jenkins, Mrs. Shirley Middleton and Rose Ann and Miss Donna Betz.

Prizes were won by Mrs. LaVerne Clayton, Mrs. Phyllis Stiff and Mrs. Shirley Middleton.

It was agreed to meet at the home of Mrs. Rita Lane in February.

Liberty Baptist W. M. S. Has Royal Service Program

The W. M. S. of the Liberty Baptist church met Friday evening at the home of Mrs. George Froman for the Royal Service program.

The meeting opened with the hymn, "Oh Little Town of Bethlehem," after which Mrs. Lela Gibbs led in prayer. Mrs. Woodrow Owen, president, presided during the business session and conducted the lesson in the absence of the program chairman. The devotional service, "Bethlehem the Star," with scripture from Matt. 2:2-12, was given by Mrs. Esco Horton.

Topics were given by the following women: "How Far to Bethlehem," Mrs. Woodrow Owen; "The Lost Road to Bethlehem," Mrs. Bryan Malone; "Christmas and the Home," Mrs. Renzo Horton; "Seeking the Road Back," Mrs. Harry Powell. Closing prayer was by Mrs. Willie Hendren.

Instead of the usual gift exchange the members brought an offering for the Carmi Baptist Children's home. Eight members were present.

A previous meeting was held when the Lottie Moon season of prayer program was presented and an offering for foreign missions given.

Two Runs by Fire Department

The fire department made a run at 12:30 a. m. Sunday to a two-story house at 511 East Walnut street, where a number of persons had collected, and found an up-holstered chair afire.

The flames were extinguished when firemen carried the chair outside the building. Cause of the blaze was unknown.

At 11 p. m. Saturday the fire department was called to the home of L. M. Hancock, 205 West Church street, because of defective wiring. Damage was slight.

Democrats Endorse Daley for Chicago Mayor; Kennelly to Seek Renomination

CHICAGO (UP)—Mayor Martin H. Kennelly promised to fight for renomination as Democratic slate-makers met today to officially give their endorsement to Cook County Clerk Richard J. Daley.

Kennelly told a television audience Sunday he would base his campaign for renomination on retention of his civil service program, centralized purchasing and non-political school policies.

Soviets Threaten To Cancel Pacts With France, Britain

MOSCOW (UP)—The Soviet Union threatened today to cancel the 1942 Russian-British Treaty of Friendship if the Paris and London agreements to rearm West Germany are ratified.

Russia also has warned France the 1944 France-Soviet Treaty of Friendship would be broken off if the Paris treaties are approved.

During the weekend Russia sent notes to five European countries which do not belong to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and sought to woo them into the soviet camp with warnings against a revival of German militarism.

The Moscow notes were sent to Finland, Yugoslavia, Sweden, Switzerland and Austria. They chided the five for not attending Moscow's recent security conference, but were almost friendly in tone.

He said "the men at the Morrison Hotel (Democratic regular organization headquarters) have talked to him "only about patronage."

Six months ago, Kennelly said, he turned down an offer of organization support in exchange for firing Stephen E. Hurley as president of the city Civil Service Commission.

A Democratic slatemaking committee of 12 unanimously endorsed Daley as the party's candidate for mayor in the spring primary at a meeting Saturday.

The endorsement was expected to be approved by the full Central Committee today, and Daley said he would not announce whether he will be a candidate until the meeting today.

Benjamin S. Adamowski, former corporation counsel in Kennelly's administration, has said he will remain in the race for the Democratic nomination regardless of whom the party endorsed.

Alderman Robert E. Merriam, who only recently severed connections with the Democratic organization, is the only announced candidate for the Republican nomination.

Ullin Man is Killed by Auto

ULLIN, Ill. (UP)—Dan Jones, 55, Ullin, was killed Saturday night when he was struck by a car while walking on the Ullin-Tamms road west of here. State police said A. G. Thorp, Ullin, was driving the car.

Begin Lawsuit In Circuit Court

A lawsuit, Giles Armature and Electric Co. vs. Roger Knickerbocker, began today in circuit court.

This is a non-jury lawsuit being heard by Circuit Judge C. Ross Reynolds.

Representing the armature company is Atty. Kenneth Powless of Marion. Atty. Scerial Thompson represents Knickerbocker.

Senate Report Blames Industry, FHA for Scandals

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate Banking Committee planned today to make a continuing check on the federal housing program to prevent any recurrence of the multi-million dollar housing scandals.

The committee issued a final report Sunday on its months-long investigation of "windfall" profits and home-repair irregularities. It blamed dishonest government officials, housing industry groups, and "a few greedy and sometimes dishonest" builders for the scandals.

The report said industry and the FHA must share responsibility for the housing "frauds" and recommended that funds be provided to finance a "thorough study."

The National Assn. of Home Builders took issue with some of the committee's findings. President R. G. Hughes said in a statement that he disliked an implied "wholesale" criticism of the homebuilding industry and thousands of "loyal and conscientious" government housing employees.

Dean Emeritus Of U. I. Medical School Dies

CHICAGO (UP)—Dr. David John Davis, 79, dean emeritus of the University of Illinois Medical school, died Sunday in his home at suburban Wilmette.

Dr. Davis became professor of pathology and bacteriology at the university in 1913 and was made dean in 1925. He retired in 1943.

A native of Racine, Wis., Dr. Davis was graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1898, obtained his medical degree at Rush Medical College, Chicago, and earned a doctorate in philosophy from the University of Chicago in 1906.

He also studied at the Universities of Vienna in Austria and Freiburg in Germany.

Dr. Davis was permanent historian of the State Medical Society. He is survived by his widow, Myra, and two sons, both physicians.

Drivers License Exam Stations to Have 3-Day Holiday

Two Sailors Are Charged With Rape-Strangling

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP)—Two sailors faced murder and accessory charges today in the rape-strangling of a pretty 16-year-old Sunday school teacher who wanted everybody to be "kinder to sailors."

Frederick B. Zimmer, 25, is charged with murdering Margaret Louise Blanchette of nearby Portsmouth early Sunday after she screamed when he allegedly tried to rape her.

Seaman Clyde B. Brumfield, 18, is held as an accessory. Both men are from Rochester, N. Y., and are attached to the Newport Naval Training Station.

Zimmer allegedly confessed beating and strangling the dark-haired girl in a parked auto at about 1:30 a. m. Sunday after they met at a Christmas dance at the base enlisted men's club.

Bill H. Brown, Limerick Staff Among Top Ten

Bill H. Brown, manager of the Limerick Finance branch office at 113 North Main street here in Harrisburg, has been nominated as one of the most outstanding Limerick branch managers, Richard E. Meier, Limerick president announced yesterday.

Selected from a field of 65 company managers throughout six midwestern states, Mr. Brown and the Harrisburg staff of Limerick were selected as one of the top ten branches of the 34 year old loan and financing firm.

Mr. Brown has been associated with the Limerick firm since June, 1950, and has managed the local office since June, 1953. Members of the Harrisburg staff who helped earn the company-wide citation are Franklin Logsdon, Harold Kielhorn, Lathora Williams, Sadie Stricklin and Anna Mae Bobka.

Dorrisville School Christmas Play Tuesday Afternoon

A Christmas program will be presented at the Dorrisville school Tuesday at 1:30 p. m. in the gymnasium by pupils of the second, third and fourth grades.

The first part of the program will consist of the following numbers by the rhythm band: "Jolly Old Saint Nicholas," "Christmas Again" and the "Community Christmas Tree." Members of the band are Mike Hill, Patsy Partain, Deborah Kuppert, Vickie Hale, Carolyn Winters, Danny Brasher, Carla Neighbors, Connie Walker, Derrill Duke, Jeanette Evans, Mickey Pankley, Judy Pictvall, Philip Reynolds, Nancy Tucker, Michael Evans, Barbara Barrett, Phyllis Neighbors, Donna Price, Steven Price, Candy Stokes, Jimmy Brantley, Darlene Burroughs, Shirley Agin, Joan Elam, Lee Pelhank, Donna Melton, Gala Morris, Rita Shilley, Anna Trail, Richard Aldridge, Gary Bennett, Larry Brantley, Charles Blue, Ronnie Bristow, Ronnie Simpson, Roger Burroughs, Troy Hooker, Richard Hull, Dee Pelhank, Richard Trail and James Brasher.

Christmas tree decorations are Bobby Pellum, Bonnie Cantrell, Gail Glass, Carolyn Jones, Danny Gibson, Linda Thomas, Billy Stone, Tommy Alexander, Faye Gibbs, James Slaton, Barbara Hall, Diane McKeever.

The second part of the program is the play "On Christmas Hill." The characters are: David Piersall, Sharon Landis, Myrtle Reynolds, Mary Eddy, Sue Wilson, Leanna Chrisman, Gary Sweat, Janice Brown, Alan Bennett, Peggy Travis, Betty Dalton, Pat Morgan, Larry Wallace, Charles Simpson, Danny Dorris, Minnie Beal, Glenn Ford, Penny Stokes, Sharon Travis, Linda Followell, Sharon Clark, Albert Beal, Gary Walker, Roger Williams, Kenny Fuikerson, Charles Partain, Jackie Jones, Gene Turner and Art Gibbons.

The program is under the supervision of Mrs. Ruth Westbrook, Mrs. Monroe Rhodes and Mrs. Freda Dillon. Background music will be furnished by the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades under the direction of Mrs. Bernice Woolcott.

Court Upholds Cities' Ban on Pinball Machines

SPRINGFIELD, Mo.—The Illinois Supreme Court ruled today that cities have the right to ban pinball machines, even though the 1953 Legislature legalized them.

In a vacation opinion, the court reversed a Chicago municipal court decision that the 1953 statute repealed a city ordinance that prohibited the pinball devices.

The Supreme Court noted that since 1871, cities have had authority to ban pinball machines, bagatelle and pigeonhole devices, and this provision remains in the revised Cities and Villages Act.

The 1953 Legislature legalized pinball machines that don't pay off in cash or prizes and placed a state license fee on them. But it didn't repeal the provision in the Cities and Villages Act.

Wally Moon is Named National L. Rookie of Year

NEW YORK (AP)—Wallace Wade (Wally) Moon, who broke into the St. Louis Cardinals' lineup last spring because he was "in the wrong place at the right time," today was acclaimed the National League's Rookie of the Year by the Baseball Writers of America.

The lean, bushy-browed center fielder from Trumann, Ark., attracted 17 of a possible 24 votes in the annual balloting of a special committee, which was made up of three writers from each league city.

Ernie Banks, the Chicago Cubs' young Negro shortstop, finished second in the balloting with four votes. Gene Conley, the Milwaukee Braves' gangling right-handed pitcher, received two votes while outfielder Hank Aaron, also of Milwaukee, picked up the remaining vote.

Dairy Brands to Play Golconda Tonight At Junior High Gym

Pairings for Paris Tourney

PARIS, Ill. (AP)—Pairings have been announced for the 16-team 13th annual Paris holiday high school basketball tournament Dec. 28 to Jan. 1.

Paris is defending champion and co-favorite with Greenville in the lower bracket this year. Newton and Clinton are co-favorites in the upper bracket.

The first round pairings:

Dec. 28
Newman vs. Carrollton.
Norman vs. Johnston City.

Dec. 29
Flora vs. Clinton.
Chicago Tilden vs. Athens.

Dec. 30
Sullivan vs. Mount Pulaski.
Greenville vs. Normal U. High.
Paris vs. East Lynn.
Mount Olive vs. Georgetown.

Quarterfinals are scheduled for Dec. 31 and semi-finals in the afternoon and final and consolation at night on Jan. 1.

HONEST!—George Parker, Jr. caught this 13-foot 3 1/2-inch, 1002-pound marlin on a 130-pound test line off the Hawaiian Islands. It will be a world record if judged a striped marlin. The big one struck Parker's bait as he was single-handedly running his boat. After jumping from wheel to tackle for some time, he radioed for help and another boat sent helmsman so Parker was free to fight and land his fish. (NEA)

Seixas, Doris Hart Listed Top Tennis Players

NEW YORK (AP)—The U. S. Lawn Tennis Association's ranking committee today named Vic Seixas and Doris Hart the nation's No. 1 players, failing to list Maureen (Little Mo) Connolly—the blonde star who hasn't lost a major tournament in three years—among the top women competitors.

It took a big cement truck and the USLTA's habit of basing its ranking almost solely on its own national championships to knock Little Mo out of the No. 1 women's spot and into a pigeon hole called "insufficient data." Miss Connolly was unable to defend the women's title last September because she suffered a broken leg when the horse she was riding jammed her against a tree July 20. She topped the rankings in 1951, 1952 and 1953.

Seixas, the 31-year old former Air Force pilot from Philadelphia who won the U. S. title last September on his 14th try, was ranked first in men's singles for the second time. Miss Hart, the 30-year old Coral Gables, Fla., star, headed the women's singles because she won that crown for the first time after losing five times in previous finals.

The rankings are not official until approved at the USLTA meeting in New York Jan. 22.

Tony Trabert, 1953 U. S. champion from Cincinnati and Ham Richardson, the nation's intercollegiate champion from Baton Rouge, La., were ranked second and third, respectively behind Seixas.

Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., lost to Miss Hart in the Women's National final and that runner-up finish earned her second ranking behind Doris. Mrs. Beverly Baker Flett, the Long Beach, Calif., girl who returned to tennis this year after taking time off to start a family, was ranked third.

Illinois, OSU Only Unbeaten Big 10 Teams

CHICAGO (AP)—Thirteen basketball games involving eight Big Ten teams were scheduled in the pre-Christmas week with three games on the program tonight.

Five teams, Michigan, Northwestern, Illinois, Minnesota and Ohio State each had two games on the schedule and only Iowa and Michigan State will be idle.

Tonight Michigan plays at Denver, Louisiana State at Northwestern and Tulane at Wisconsin, while Tuesday Illinois will be at Rice, Indiana at Kansas State, Southern Methodist at Minnesota, Ohio State at California and Washington of St. Louis at Purdue.

Wednesday Illinois will be at Loyola of New Orleans, Michigan at Brigham Young, Northwestern at Butler and Ohio State at California, while Notre Dame plays at Minnesota Thursday in the last game before the holidays.

Only Illinois and Ohio State remained undefeated among the Big Ten clubs with the Illini boasting five wins after its 66-57 decision over Notre Dame Saturday, and the Buckeyes four, after a 102-84 match over Oklahoma.

Other Saturday results were Cincinnati over Indiana, 97-65, Pennsylvania over Michigan State, 73-67, Michigan over Washington of St. Louis, 73-58, Iowa over Princeton, 71-52, Oklahoma A&M over Minnesota, 62-54, Northwestern over Tulane, 77-63, Purdue over Butler, 82-54, and Wisconsin over LSU, 107-68.

Carrier Mills Edges Galatia in Two Overtimes

Rollins Pushes In Winning Basket In Second Overtime

Carrier Mills and Galatia staged a terrific double-overtime battle on the Carrier Mills' floor Saturday night, with the home club the winner, 61-59.

Entering the game as the underdog, Galatia jumped off to an early lead and gave every indication of staging an upset. The winning Carrier Mills team trailed until the final frame was about half over, then went in front 53-50 and built up an advantage of 59-50, only to see Galatia come roaring back to knot the score at 59-59 just as the horn sounded.

In the second overtime period Oliver Rollins pushed in a field goal for the winning two points and the ball game. The victory extended Carrier Mills' home-court winning streak to 32 games.

Two sharpshooters, John Tate and Glen Clarida, sparked the Galatia offense with 20 and 29 points respectively, and Rollins paced the Carrier Mills attack with 29 points, after being held to just 8 points in the first half.

Played For Safety
Failure to hit from the outside and Galatia's fine defense that kept Rollins bottled up for two periods, put the winning "Cats on the short end of a 22-13 score at the first quarter and 32-25 at half time.

Three quarters of play Galatia still led, 44-43, then Carrier Mills went in front with 4-48 to play, extended the advantage to 59-50 with time rapidly running out.

Imboden hit a free throw, then Clarida went on a one-man rampage to score eight consecutive points and tie the score.

In the first three-minute overtime Carrier Mills kept control of the ball, taking the tipoff and playing for a set up, which never came. Just before the horn sounded a desperation pass was made to Rollins, who missed on a difficult shot.

The second overtime was a replay of the first, except that a pass found Rollins more-or-less in the open, and he jammed the ball through for the winning basket.

Special Christmas Program
John Tate, Galatia, put on a fine shooting exhibition in the first half, hitting seven of nine from the field, all from 20 to 25 feet out. Clarida put on his show in the last quarter, hitting for 10 markers in the final eight minutes.

More balance on the Carrier Mills team spelled the difference, as six of the seven players used broke into the scoring column while only four Galatia players scored, and one of them contributed two free pitches.

Rollins' 29 points boosted his scoring average for this season just a shade under 27, as he has hit for 242 markers in nine games. Carrier Mills won the preliminary game, 60-37, holding a substantial lead throughout.

At half time the Carrier Mills music department staged a special Christmas program. The members of the band and chorus were arranged in a Christmas tree formation with varicolored lights on their caps, with a star at the tip of the "tree." Several Christmas songs were presented and as the final number, "Silent Night" was sung, the lights were dimmed one by one, with the star blinking out on the last note.

It was very unusual and highly appreciated by the crowd.

Thompsonville Wins Third in Tamaroa Tourney

Bob Munday's Thompsonville cagers copped the third place trophy in the Tamaroa tourney final Saturday night, whipping Ashley, 71-52, in the consolation scrap. Steeleville won the meet by defeating Bob Farris' Coulterville quintet, 77-62, in the championship tiff.

Thompsonville experienced little difficulty with the Ashley club, rolling up a 21-14 first quarter lead and charging on to a 38-21 half-time edge. During the third period, Coach Munday used his reserves freely, and Ashley came back with a strong 22 point period.

The Tigers were 52-43 leaders going into the final cant. They outscored the opposition 19-9 in this stanza to win handsly.

Thompsonville winds up its pre-holiday basketball by invading Ridgway tomorrow night.

Anna Trips Eagles, 46-40

Both Teams Are in Blind Draw Meet at Eldorado This Week

Eldorado's Eagles made the long trip to Anna Saturday night and dropped a 46-40 decision.

Eldorado, after trailing throughout the ball game, rallied in the final frame, coming from a 12-point deficit, to within four points of Anna, then Anna steadied and held on for the victory.

This game might be a preview of things to come as Anna and Eldorado are two of the four teams entered in the blind-draw tournament to be played at Eldorado Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Other teams entered are Cairo and Metropolis.

The decision dropped Eldorado to the 500 mark, giving the Eagles three victories against the same number of losses.

George Davis New President Of Golf Ass'n

George H. Davis is the newly elected president of the Egyptian Golf Association.

Mr. Davis was elected to head the local golfing organization at a meeting of the board of directors last week. Other officers are Charles Skaggs, first vice president; Lowden Pankey, second vice president; Toby Pelhank, secretary, and Wilbur Barger, treasurer.

Also at the organization meeting the terms of the board members were determined as follows: Davis one year, Pelhank two years, Pankey three years, Barger four years and Skaggs five years.

Committees were appointed, with the first named the chairman: House, E. Bishop Hill, Dr. Arthur Franks, Dale Sullivan and Carl Rude.

Membership, Troy Hart, Dale Sullivan, Charles D. Taylor, Bob Davenport, Atty. Harry Argus, Kenneth Davis and Dr. B. E. Montgomery.

Grounds, Ira Stilley, Kene Kimberlin, Pat Sullivan and H. E. "Ronnie" Mitchell Jr.

Activities, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Rod Nash, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Questelle, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wolf.

Rules, Thorval Gaskins, Ed Bean, Tom Davenport.

Tournament, Tommy Johns, Dr. Harold Brown, Ira Stilley, Mrs. Gene Kimberlin and Mrs. Jack Davenport.

Publicity, J. O. Wells.

Atty. Don Scott, who was temporary chairman of the organization meeting, stated plans were made for a membership dance to be held at the Kurto Country club soon. The dues are $50 per year, which include club privileges for members' families. Membership will be limited to 150.

Plans were discussed for changing the course, by leasing an additional 100 foot strip along the east side and moving the number 1 tee and green to the east, making it possible to then change the number 4 green, making a dog-leg around the lake and eliminating a hazard of the number 4 fairway and the number 5 tee. The possibility of enlarging the greens was also discussed.

Bull Dogs Drop 62-59 Tilt at Johnston City; To Play Carbondale Here

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs, who dropped a close tilt at Johnston City Saturday night, play the Terriers of Carbondale Community high school in the final game before the holidays at Davenport gym tomorrow evening.

The Bull Dogs can lay the blame for their 62-59 defeat to the Indians at Johnston City to a cold start and a cold first part of the final period.

At the outset the Indians ran up a 10 to 1 count before the locals got to moving, but when the locals got their attack under way they narrowed the gap to 18 to 16 at the end of the period.

The Bull Dogs tied the count at the beginning of the second period and when halftime came led, 34 to 31.

The locals held their own in the third quarter as each team scored 17 points, but something happened when the last frame began. The locals could not connect at all with their shots and Johnston City ran up 10 points before the locals counted on two free throws when the period was half over. The locals tried in vain to overcome this 58-51 deficit and got up to two points behind, but could get no closer.

In spite of the defeat Harrisburg scored 23 field goals to 19 for Johnston City but the locals were fouling more and Johnston City had a big edge on free throws, making 24 to 13 for the Bull Dogs.

David Anglin of the Bull Dogs was high point man for Harrisburg with 20 points, followed by 18 by Shelby of Johnston City. John Wilson of Harrisburg had 17.

The Bull Pups won the preliminary game from the Johnston City B team, 49 to 48. The locals held a five point lead with 25 seconds to go and managed to hold on to a one-point margin.

Lions, Browns To Play for League Title Next Sunday

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Coach Buddy Parker apparently feels pretty confident his Detroit Lions will collect a record third straight National Football League championship at the Cleveland Browns' expense next Sunday.

"They're the same Browns," Parker said after his Lions came from behind in the last minute Sunday to defeat Cleveland, 14-10, in the league's final regular season game. The contest had been postponed from Oct. 3.

Parker wouldn't elaborate but he said the Browns were "the same as always"—and he hasn't lost to Coach Paul Brown, the Cleveland mastermind, in eight meetings since 1951. Detroit downed Cleveland in the last two championship games.

Sunday's game didn't mean anything because both teams had clinched the respective division championships before they began butting heads on a snow-covered field in a near-blizzard with the thermometer at 22 degrees. But the bitter rivals played as though the title were at stake, risking their stars without relief on the slippery field before 34,168 hardy fans.

Two Dead, 2 Hurt In Generating Plant Explosion

CHICAGO (U)—Two men were killed and two injured in a generating plant explosion that caused an estimated 10 million dollars damage.

The blast rocked the six-story Commonwealth Edison plant in suburban Stickney late Sunday night, sending chunks of metal and stone flying through the roof and walls.

The dead were identified as Clarence T. Jorgensen, 36, Evergreen Park, Ill., an engineer, and George A. Thorsen, 34, Oak Lawn, a turbine operator.

Injured were William Griesshammer, 35, Brookfield, and William O. Nicholl, 43, Palos Park.

Authorities said a $100,000 kilowatt generating unit exploded as engineers fed steam into it. Cause of the blast was not known.

The entire plant, which had a capacity of 640,000 kilowatts, was knocked out of commission.

Other plants would be able to supply the lost power to Chicago and suburbs, the spokesman said.

Kills Wife, Three Children After Christmas Party

PASADENA, Calif. (U)—A businessman who killed his wife and three young children after a family Christmas party and then tried to commit suicide today, "It can't be real... I had a bad dream."

Harold R. Oilar, 39, in serious condition after trying to asphyxiate himself, said financial worries drove him to bludgeon his family to death shortly after they stood around their Christmas tree and sang Yuletide carols together.

Police said Oilar sang Christmas carols with his family at a party and then killed them with a hatchet as they slept in bed. He went from bedroom to bedroom and killed his wife, Grace, 39, and two daughters, Janet, 9, and Martha, 7, and his son, Randy, 12, officers said.

Before slaying his family early Sunday, Oilar locked in overnight guest, 7-year-old Bronwyn Rayburn, on a side porch. The Rayburn girl had sung carols with her ill-fated playmates.

Oilar tried to kill himself after the slayings by locking himself in the bathroom and turning on gas. But an ambulance driver kicked down the door and saved his life.

Foundations Hit By GOP Report

have been supported by the Rockefeller Foundation or any other foundation... all that a study such as a Kinsey report can prove is that other forms of sexual behavior, such as pre-marital intercourse, prostitution, extra-marital intercourse, and homosexual behavior sometimes occur among some members of some segments of the population.

4. The GOP majority said that one of the reasons for establishment of the Fund for the Republic, under the auspices of the Ford Foundation, was to "investigate congressional investigations." Paul Hoffman, chairman of the fund and one of President Eisenhower's original supporters, denied this. But the Republican committee members insisted they were right.

5. The Republicans noted that the first president of the fund was Clifford P. Case, now senator-elect from New Jersey and a Republican himself. They said Case's first major campaign act was to make clear he "is a violent anti-McCarthyite."

The Republican members said that "we do not object to his taking a strong position in this area; we point out, however, that his public utterances have hardly characterized him as objective in his approach."

6. After observing that Robert Maynard Hutchins, former president of the University of Chicago, has succeeded Case as president of the fund, the Republicans said: "It does not seem to this committee that the trio of Hoffman, Case and Hutchins was well selected for an investigation in the interests of objectivity."

She was a member of the Mt. Moriah church where funeral services were held today at 1 p. m. Rev. Herbert Little of Eldorado officiated, and burial was in the Drake cemetery.

She leaves four children: Mrs. Corliss McCormick, Creal Springs, Robert Loless, Dupon, Dowell Loless, Portsmouth, Ohio, and Mrs. Lorene Camden of Creal Springs RFD.

Springfield Girl Is Hurt in Plane Crash; Two Dead

PORT CHESTER, N. Y. (U)—Lillis Lanphier, 18, daughter of a wealthy Springfield, Ill., industrialist, was reported in "satisfactory" condition today at United Hospital with injuries suffered in a plane crash Saturday in which two men were killed.

Hospital authorities said they could not yet say when Miss Lanphier would be able to leave for home with her father, Charles Lanphier, who was waiting to board the plane, owned by his Sangamo Electric Co., at a Westchester airport when it crashed.

Miss Lanphier's injuries were said to be "not serious."

The pilot and co-pilot, Orville Ram Armstrong, of Springfield, and Chester High, of Danville, Ill., were killed when the plane crashed on a heavily wooded Westchester estate as it attempted to land in fog at the Westchester County Airport, White Plains, just 10 minutes before the Idlewild Airport crash of an Italian airliner.

10 Million Additional Persons Under Social Security on Jan. 1

WASHINGTON AP—The federal old age and survivors insurance system will undergo a big change Jan. 1 when some 10 million additional persons start paying social security taxes.

Payment of these taxes for the first time will entitle farmers, clergymen, architects, engineers, and thousands of others gainfully employed to social security retirement benefits when they reach age 65.

Generally speaking, persons coming under the system Jan. 1 will have to continue to work and pay social security taxes for at least 18 months before becoming eligible for retirement benefits.

In addition to expanding coverage, the new social security law approved by the last Congress calls for substantially higher benefit payments, for collection of more social security tax money, and for more liberal method of computing benefit payments.

58 Million on Rolls

The expanded coverage under the law means that about 58 million persons out of a potential 63-200,000 are on the social security rolls. The notable exceptions are physicians, lawyers, dentists, federal civil service workers, members of the armed forces, policemen and firemen.

The largest single group getting coverage under the new law are 3,600,000 self-employed farmers who make as much as $400 profit a year. About 3-12 million employees of state and local governments also become eligible for coverage for the first time.

Other groups newly covered are funeral directors, many household workers and farm laborers not previously covered, citizens employed outside the United States, federal employees not covered by other federal retirement plans, fishing industry employees, and persons who work for business firms but do their work at home, such as sewing, telephoning or addressing envelopes.

Self-employed farmers, clergymen, architects, engineers and funeral directors must pay the 3 per cent social security tax rate that applies to other self-employed already covered. This rate will continue until 1960 when it is scheduled to go up to 3 1/2 per cent.

Pay 2 Per Cent Tax

Farm workers and others who come under the category of employee will pay a 2 per cent social security tax. This will be matched by a 2 per cent contribution from employers.

To get himself enrolled under social security, here's what a self-employed person, including a farmer, should do:

First, get a social security card from the nearest social security office. Then, in 1956, when filling out his federal income tax return on 1955 earnings, this newly covered person should show his social security account number on his return. Benefits ultimately are figured from this social security account.

The amount to be reported corresponds to net earnings, or profit. If a farmer's total receipts are $1,800 or less, he has a choice between reporting his net earnings, or reporting half of his total receipts.

A clergyman has the option of deciding whether he wants to be included under the social security system. The law gives him two years to make his decision. Once he is included, he must remain in the system.

Hired farm workers are covered by the new law if they earn as much as $100 or more cash wages in a year from a single farm operator. Heretofore they had to be paid at least $50 in a single quarter by a single employer by whom they were regularly employed.

Donates Collection Of Hopewellian Artifacts to SIU

CARBONDALE, Ill.—Mrs. Ethel R. Wilson, McLansboro, is loaning a collection of prehistoric Hopewellian Indian artifacts to the Southern Illinois University Museum, Dr. J. Charles Kelly, director, announced today.

The collection contains many excellent museum specimens, he said, and will be used for exhibit purposes at SIU.

The artifacts were removed in 1949 from several mounds on Mrs. Wilson's farm near the Wabash river in White county. The mounds are on the eastern edge of the Dog-rising abrupt, a series of elevations rising abruptly from the bottom-land west of the Wabash.

Included in the collection are such artifacts as pieces of sheet mica, conch shell dippers, drilled bear tusks, drilled pearl beads, shell and copper beads, pottery vessels, mussel shell dishes and spoons, and a limestone pipe shaped to resemble a flower blossom.

Irvin Peithman, SIU museum curator of archaeology, completed arrangements for bringing the collection to the campus. He says prehistoric people of the Hopewellian culture inhabited the area some 1500 years ago. Some of the material from which the artifacts were made was brought into the region from other parts of the continent, he believes. The mica may have come from what is now North Carolina. Copper for beads probably originated in the Lake Superior region. The conch shells and marine shell beads likely came from the Gulf of Mexico region or from the southeastern seacoast.

After the 1949 discoveries on the farm, a field party of representatives of the Illinois State Museum, Indiana University, and Southern Illinois University excavated the largest of some 12 mounds in the group in June, 1950. The work uncovered an interesting series of burials characteristic of the Hopewellian culture.

VFW Leaders Ask Stratton Aid on Korea War Bonus

SPRINGFIELD AP—Illinois Veterans of Foreign Wars leaders have called on Gov. William G. Stratton to ask his support for a state bonus for Korean war veterans.

The VFW officials said they also asked Stratton and State Welfare Director Otto L. Bettag to seek improvement of care at state hospitals.

State VFW Commander Raymond W. Schild, Chicago, said he asked for a check of charges that attendants beat mental patients at East Moline State hospital.

Schild did not report the governor's views on the state bonus plan, which the VFW will present to the 1955 General Assembly. But Schild said both Stratton and Bettag assured him improvements at state hospitals were under way.

Costello's Christmas Decorations Most Elaborate in the Movie Colony

By ALINE MOSBY
UNITED PRESS HOLLYWOOD WRITER
HOLLYWOOD AP—Lou Costello put Christmas wreaths on his front door 14 years ago, and by today the trimmings have snowballed to include movies, three full-size Santas, galloping reindeer and $2,000 worth of lights.

Although Hollywood has no traditional Yuletide snow, Costello's Christmas decorations make up for it in brilliance, and are the most supercolossal in the movie colony.

His 22-room home in suburban Sherman Oaks is outlined — every window and door — with colored lights. Santas or moving trees fill each window.

Two huge Santas stand on the roof. One drives a sleigh with three moving reindeer. From Santa's chimney showers colored bubbles (in place of snow). On the lawn below, a mechanical Santa surrounded by gifts and white Christmas trees waves his arms and bows.

A 48-foot movie screen on the roof shows Christmas "Woody Woodpecker" cartoons and other Yuletide short subjects. During intermission, which Costello calls to clear away the crowds, a loud-speaker covered with a choir boy display blares out Christmas carols. A huge "Merry Christmas" sign sits atop the garage. And, as a finale, Lou himself hands around toys and candy to the crowds of children staring over the front fence.

Opening night of the display I found Lou bustling around his lawn with the air of a man whose hobby is running away with him.

"Last year I went crazy," the comic cried. "I couldn't get the reindeer to gallop right. This year I bought them a new motor and have an electronic expert here full time."

Twelve men, including three electricians, put up the huge display. Lou's dialogue director runs the projection machine.

"I started to get fancy decorations four years ago and each year I keep adding things," explained Lou, tapping on his cigar. "People have been coming to the door and phoning for days, asking when our display would be up. The cars are lined up so thick every night I can't get to my driveway. We keep the display on until past midnight, but not one neighbor has complained."

"Hmm. Think I'll add a snow-man," he reflected.

Land Street Church Of God to Present Play Wednesday Night

The Land Street Church of God will present the play, "Ye Who Sit by the Fire," Wednesday at 7 p. m. The cast includes: Cecil Abney as "Old Jeffery"; Joe Foster, Jan; Agnes Foster, Marta; Burnett Brantley, the lost one; Bonita Mayhall, the widow; Dora Bradley, the wreath seller; Junior Rice, Jewell; Virgil Poole, lamp lighter; Lela Ann Lamb, child; and carolers, Daisy Campbell and Lela Bell Lamb.

The intermediates and juniors of the church will also give a short program, along with the songs of the Boys of Little Egypt.

Director will be Mrs. J. Andrew Rafferty.

The public is cordially invited.

Mrs. Gladys Aldridge Hostess To Missionary Society of First Church of God

Mrs. Gladys Aldridge was hostess Thursday evening, Dec. 16, to the Missionary society of the First Church of God.

The meeting was opened with the group singing the Christmas carol, "Silent Night, Holy Night." Mrs. Marie Wilgus followed with prayer, and the minutes of the previous meeting was read by Mrs. Margie Alexander.

The business session followed with plans being made for the nationwide prayer vigil, Monday, Dec. 20. Penny-a-day calendars were distributed for the coming year and a letter was read from the state president, accepting the invitation to visit Harrisburg for the Spring convention.

Following the business session, each one told the group interesting incidents relating to the first Christmas tree they could recall. Several from the group then read letters they had received from their prayer partners.

Mrs. Ethel Fisher opened the worship service by reading Luke 1:26-31. Mrs. Bee Holland gave a wonderful devotion, taking her scriptures from St. John 1:1-5 and Luke 2:1-14, then all joined in singing the Christmas carol, "Joy to the World."

The meeting was brought to a close with all joining hands, with Lennie Hibbs, Mrs. Anna Rhine, and Miss Beulah Livers leading in prayer.

Gifts were exchanged and mystery pals were revealed.

Delicious refreshments of punch, sandwiches, and cookies were served from the dining table decorated with a lovely punch bowl, candles, and Christmas ornaments.

Others present besides those already mentioned were: Mrs. Ethyl Keneipp, Mrs. Bess Aldridge, Mrs. Gladys O'Connor, Mrs. Elsie Dudley, Mrs. Emma Hibbs, Mr. and Mrs. Layton Aldridge, Debbie Aldridge, and one visitor, Mrs. Eva Zeibig.

Christmas Party Held By Royal and Loyal Daughters

The Royal and Loyal Daughters of the Dorrisville Social Brethren church held a Christmas party Thursday night at the church.

The meeting was opened with the singing of "Silent Night" and with scripture reading in Luke 2:1-15 by Mrs. Lucian Souheaver, president. Mrs. Alta Dixon led in prayer.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and roll call was answered with a scripture verse. The meeting closed with prayer by Nellie Wright.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Orval Hudnell.

Gifts to be exchanged were placed beneath a Christmas tree beautifully decorated. The class presented Mrs. Harry Morse, teacher, with a lovely gift.

Entertainment was furnished by Mary Barger who gave a reading and by Donna and Shirley Bennet who sang three numbers.

Refreshments were served to those mentioned and to the following:

Mrs. George Butler, Mrs. John A. Dunn, Mrs. Bob Wilson, Mrs. Georgia Dempsey, Mrs. Jasper Randolph, Mrs. Charles Blue, Mrs. George Pinchoff, Mrs. Celia Cook, Mrs. Howard Moore, Mrs. Marie Sullivan, Mrs. Oma Johnson, Lois Wright and one visitor, Mrs. Lowell Wilson.

First Christian Missionary Guild Has Christmas Party

The Missionary Guild of the First Christian church held its December meeting Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Joe Harris who was assisted by Mrs. Ross Abby and Mrs. Cecil Harris.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. Phyllis Sloan who gave the devotion, "Let's Keep Christmas," written by Peter Marshall. The theme of the devotion was "that customs have changed but the message remains the same." Mrs. Joe Harris closed the devotion with prayer.

Gifts were exchanged and Mrs. Harold Empson and Mrs. George Reese were in charge of the entertainment.

The guild sent a package of clothing and toys to an orphan boy in a home in St. Louis, Mo., which is sponsored by the Christian churches.

Christmas carols were sung and refreshments of cherry salad, Ritz crackers and coffee were served to those mentioned and to the following: Mrs. Clarence Aldridge, Mrs. Vance Brackney, Mrs. Glen Daugherty, Mrs. Stanley Wilson, Mrs. Bob Kennedy, Mrs. John Fuller, Mrs. Bernice McMahan, Mrs. Jack Jackson, Mrs. Ruth Stunson, Mrs. George McNab and Miss Gladys Caley.

Postmark: Santa Claus, Indiana

SANTA CLAUS, Ind. — (UP) — This sleepy southern Indiana village—what little there is of it—is in the midst of its annual chore of being the Christmas mail capital of the nation.

Elbert Reinke, who heads up the 98-year-old Santa Claus postoffice, brushed the dust off his mail cancelling machines late in November and got ready for the rush that comes as regular as clockwork.

Each year, hundreds of thousands of bundles of Yule greeting cards are hauled into this tiny community by truck from the nearest railroads 10 miles away. Reinke and his staff of Christmas-rush extras work far into the night throughout December cancelling the mail with the "Santa Claus, Ind." postmark.

In addition, Reinke's staff weighs, stamps and cancels hundreds of parcels containing toys bought in a big commercial shop shared by the postoffice in a resort area that plays host to thousands of children each year.

Across the hills in a nearby town, members of an American Legion post work long hours, too, sorting through thousands of letters dropped into the nation's mailboxes for Santa by hopeful youngsters.

Commercial Battle
Many postmasters shuttle all the mail addressed to "Santa Claus, North Pole," to the Hoosier town. Jim Yellig and a crowd of Legionnaires send form replies of acknowledgement to all children whose letters bear return addresses.

The village of Santa Claus was founded in 1852 and its name was chosen at a town meeting held on Christmas Eve. A postoffice was established in 1856, and mail was brought from and taken to the outside world by horseback and in oxcarts for years.

Santa Claus today consists largely of a commercial venture laid out a few years ago on a wooded acreage a quarter of a mile from the old village. Tourists from all over the country bring their youngsters here to ride a miniature railroad train, visit Santa's toy shop, see a flock of reindeer, and chat with Santa himself even on the hottest August day.

Nearby, the old village is deep in weeds. A handful of families live there, but efforts to keep the tourists in the town itself failed during a battle in the 1940's between two groups of commercial interests capitalizing on the town's name.

A huge statue of Santa was built in a small park, and a rival group established a commercial fairland. But the group located outside the town at a crossroads intersection won the fight for the tourist trade, and eventually the postoffice was moved there.

From the crossroads and the postoffice, a tourist cannot see the old Santa Claus as it falls into decay.

Kirby laughed. "Of all crazy things the craziest is to own a ghost town."

Daggett huddled his chin in his coat collar. Greg eased the car over the rough road. He was astonished to hear his own voice declare, "Put it on a paying basis."

"But you've been saying there is nothing to turn into money."

"They haven't good soil," Greg conceded, "and no water. But they've got history. They've got romance. If people will read about it and go to the movies, why won't they come out here to see the Old West actually come to life?"

Daggett looked at Greg intently. Something was happening to the young man.

"Think of it!" Greg went on. "Log cabins to stay in, gambling if they want it. Girls in the old costumes in the dance hall, people decked out in cowboy outfits, bad men, a stagecoach to bring people from the train. Why, it would have dude ranches beaten a mile. Maybe on Saturday nights we could stage a gun fight in a gambling hall or a stagecoach robbery. I tell you it can't miss. American folklore come to life."

Daggett wondered whether Greg was as unaware as he appeared to be of his inadvertent use of the word "we."

Rupert spoke up. "Folklore. All the time your advertisements hammer about what is American. Why not show people? Why not a television show in Dead Man's Gulch after we have fixed it up?"

We again. The living eyes in Daggett's dead face blazed with excitement. Apparently, the thing was going to become a community enterprise.

"You mean, get a television crew out here?" Greg asked blankly.

"Well, however you work it," Rupert said. "You suggested I work out a television program for Crain's Canned Cornbread."

Greg could not do two things at the same time. He brought the car to a halt.

"You know, Rupert, maybe you've really got something. Anyhow, I could find out."

"How?"

Greg felt rather sheepish. "Horace Crain is my stepfather. I could put the idea up to him. Not that he would give much weight to anything that comes from me but still, if the idea is good enough, he might get somewhere with it."

"You're a dark horse if I ever saw one!" Daggett exclaimed. He thought how much he had learned from Greg's comment and how much light it threw on the boy's uncertainty.

Greg shrugged. The mention of Horace Crain took the brightness out of the sky, the adventure out of the expedition. Nothing remained but a group of eccentric people skylarking around the country and going down - down - down, while New York offices were going Up-Up-Up.

He snapped on the switch, rounded a bluff and, without warning, found himself in the very heart of Dead Man's Gulch.

Set in a narrow valley shut in by ranges of mountains, it consisted of a single street with a dirt road, rickety boardwalks, frame shacks, a half-dozen log cabins, a couple of false fronts and the Last Chance Hotel.

Daggett's deputy had accomplished a great deal. As a result of a thorough and painstaking search, he had given the town a certain ghostly life.

Daggett pushed his nose flat against the window of the barber-shop. There was an old barber's chair, an authentic old shaving mug and in the chair the dummy figure of a miner with a handle-bar mustache.

An old poster of Lillian Russell hung outside the opera house. There was a saloon with a brass rail, cuspidors, and sawdust on the floor.

But the real triumph was the Last Chance Hotel which had been repaired, painted and furnished in the garish style of the period, with figured wallpaper, plush hangings, beaded portiers, chairs decorated with knobs and furbelows, marble-topped tables. The bedrooms upstairs were equipped with wash-bowls.

To gether they inspected the restaurant, which was equipped with long plank tables and benches and had a coal range with a supply of fuel ready to use. Hannah took it like a duck to water. She had grown up with one.

Kirby helped them unload the food from the trailer and while Hannah set about cooking dinner—supper, Daggett reminded them; it was important to keep the details straight—Greg and Kirby made up beds in the hotel.

When they had finished eating, Kirby looked from the oil lamp on the table to the pot-bellied stove and chuckled. Daggett was unaware of his amusement. For once he was in a garrulous mood, pouring out reminiscences, getting more and more wrought up.

Greg pushed back his chair. "That's all for tonight," he said authoritatively. He spoke so rarely that they were startled into attention. "What time for breakfast, Hannah?"

"I'll have it by 7:30," she promised.

Kirby groaned. "There is no such hour."

Daggett, who could not manage the stairs, was soon settled in a room Greg had fixed for him on the first floor of the hotel.

There was a glint of humor in Daggett's eyes. "You know, the evolution of Gregory Seaver is progressing at top speed. I am looking forward to the meeting between you and your stepfather. It should be amusing."

Check for 365 Days of Happiness Cashed by Clerk

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UP) — Mrs. Elizabeth Nikolic, 32, a displaced person from Russia, thought America was the nicest place, particularly when she got a Christmas gift check from her favorite dress shop for $365.

That was Dec. 4. Today she faced the discouraging prospect of paying back that amount from what she makes as a charwoman.

Mrs. Nikolic and her husband didn't notice that the check, one $365 sent out by Lippy Shoppes, read: "Pay to the order of . . . 365 days of happiness." It was drawn on the "Bank of Friends."

Mrs. Nikolic cashed it at a household appliance store where a junior clerk didn't notice it wasn't a real check. Mrs. Nikolic paid an account at the appliance store and got $155 back. A bank clerk finally caught it. In the meantime, Mrs. Nikolic had spent the $155 for Christmas presents.

Austin High in Chicago To Entertain More Than 1,000 Crippled Children

CHICAGO (UP) — Austin high school students Wednesday will entertain 37 bus loads of crippled children with a Christmas party.

The party will include a performance of the high school's ballet group.

The crippled children—more than 1,000—are from two special West Side schools for the handicapped. A ramp will be erected to accommodate wheel chairs.

"The efforts of these high schoolers prove that not all juveniles are delinquent," said Ed Leach, a school official.

Tips on Traffic Safety

By CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

Improper giving of hand or electrical turn signals is another of the principal reasons why some applicants for drivers licenses get low scores in the road test of the examination.

Learn to give signals properly—and always give them. It is not just a question of observing the law (Section 65, b, Uniform Act Regulating Traffic); it is to your own advantage, for your own protection, to let other drivers know ahead of time when you are going to turn, slow down or stop.

The signal should be given not less than 100 feet from the point where you intend to turn or stop, and it should be held until you are about to start turning. Then you should discontinue the signal and have both hands on the wheel to make the turn.

A copy of the completely new "Rules of the Road" booklet will be sent to you free upon request. Write to CHARLES F. CARPENTIER, Secretary of State, Springfield, Illinois.
